

Commemorating the UCA Martyrs of El Salvador, 31st anniversary of their deaths ...and... launching the “Vamos a la Milpa” project

Above: Joe Mulligan, S.J.
Below: “Padre Melo” S.J.

UNIVERSITY OF
DETROIT MERCY

Build A Boundless Future

Zoom Webinar on Mon. Nov. 16, 2020

7 p.m. ETZ: Joe Mulligan on the Martyrs

8 p.m. ETZ: Padre Melo and others

REGISTER BY CLICKING ON THE LINK:

https://udmercy-edu.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_mOB3Su8YSmmmnC_pyzkAuw

Our two featured speakers are Joseph Mulligan, SJ from Nicaragua (who will speak on the significance of the recent convictions in Spain of the Jesuits' killers) and “Padre Melo” Ismael Moreno, SJ of Honduras (who will speak on his new social justice project “Vamos a la Milpa”). Other guests will be Amy Argenal, who teaches Global Migration, Human Rights, and Critical Diversity Studies at University of San Francisco, and Jose Artiga, Director of SHARE El Salvador. We will also have a dramatic reading of the words of the UCA Martyrs, prepared by Mary Anne Perrone and performed by University of Detroit Mercy community members. Sponsored by the Carney Latin American Solidarity Archive (CLASA), co-sponsored by the Office of Mission Integration, Dept. of Language and Cultural Training, the International Services Office and the Latin America Caucus of Interfaith Council for Peace & Justice. For more information contact CLASA director Gail Presbey at presbegm@udmercy.edu or 313-993-1124. Check the CLASA website for more info at <https://udmercy.edu.clasa> and <http://www.share-elsalvador.org/vamos-a-la-milpa.html>

Amy Argenal

[+1 Engagement and Learning Event]
Emerging Leaders Program

An event in observance of International Education Week

Above artwork: Jesuit Martyrs,
Artist: Mary Pimmel

José Artiga